25X1A6a

The Postmaster of the local community has been advised that [REDACTED]

25X1A6a [REDACTED] will loan him three vehicles during the Christmas Season to help with mail deliveries. This has been a customary practice during the past several years.

6. Instructional Machine Demonstrated

An instructional device, The Didactor, produced by a commercial firm, was demonstrated to nine OTR employees on 14 November. In addition to its purported individualized instructional capability, the machine can accommodate peripheral devices such as audio, movies, slides and typewriter keyboard for print-out and constructed responses. The total package results in a "multi-media learning system." The basic machine can be leased for four months on a trial basis for less than $150.00. We are now trying to identify possible uses for the device in OTR's programs.

7. Non-Agency Briefings

During this reporting period, the following non-Agency briefings were given:

[REDACTED] 25X1X7

At DIS, to 25 students in Advanced Intelligence Class on "Communism and the Developing Nations" and "Communist Movement Today."

At Carlisle, Pennsylvania, to 200 members of the Army War College on the "Impact and Implication of the Sino Soviet Conflict."
